Announcement of New Business Opening

It is a great pleasure to announce that Ammeraal Beltech and Megadyne, leaders in lightweight conveying and power transmission belting, are opening a new joint company located at Nagoya, Japan. The legal entity name of this new company is AMMEGA JAPAN Co. Ltd.

This office opening in Japan is an important step in our strategy to increase market coverage in the APAC region and to better serve customers in this major global economy.

In view of their well-established reputations in their respective markets and their different channel-to-market strategies, which will remain unchanged, our two strong brand names – Ammeraal Beltech and Megadyne – will remain the main commercial facing entities towards customers.
